Additional Call Details

Call captured by voicemail. Lead gen for health ins plans from major brands, some identifying caller and some lacking identity of caller. Call-back to caller-ID identifies as Dedication Health or Executive Health. Pre-recorded calls to mobiles or toll-free numbers charged to the called party must have opt out with very explicit permissions and signing meeting criteria of 47 CFR 64.1200(f)(8), not just the URL of a web site and an IP address. Options we have seen do not list Dedication or Executive Health. URL below gives access to actual recording from end-user voicemail. Millions of calls daily. Many different caller-IDs so blocking ANI is not effective. If campaign is not paused pending correction of violations, calls past notice date will have been placed knowingly. Hundreds of FTC DNC complaints indicating called party did not grant consent. To the extent you want to show opt-in, the opt-in text to which the specific called party actually consented should be shown, with the date of signing by that party (not the text as it appears today on the site). The burden to prove consent falls upon the caller; they must retain or have access to those records.

Pre-recorded calls to mobiles or toll-free numbers charged to the called party must have opt out with very explicit permissions and signing meeting criteria of 47 CFR 64.1200(f)(8), not just the URL of a web site and an IP address. Opt-ins we have seen do not list Dedication or Executive Health. URL below gives access to actual recording from end-user voicemail. Millions of calls daily. Many different caller-IDs so blocking ANI is not effective. If campaign is not paused pending correction of violations, calls past notice date will have been placed knowingly. Hundreds of FTC DNC complaints indicating called party did not grant consent. To the extent you want to show opt-in, the opt-in text to which the specific called party actually consented should be shown, with the date of signing by that party (not the text as it appears today on the site). The burden to prove consent falls upon the caller; they must retain or have access to those records.

Recorded announcement offers free home security system in your area. Unsolicited calls using automated or prerecorded voice not permitted to wireless numbers. Traced calls are from voicemails. Message does not always capture Home Security Promotions as the calling entity; regulations require that this be included at the beginning of the message EVEN WITH CONSENT. Regulations also require a toll-free call-back number for opt-out, but that is not present here. TSR requires entire content of message must be truthful. Many different caller-ID values. Some calls to numbers on National DNC list. Volume of calls puts in doubt claim by caller that they have consent.

Recorded voice indicates offers to extend or reinstate vehicle warranty. Recorded message to mobile number. Some calls placed to numbers on national do-not-call list. Calls placed using many different Caller-ID values. Some identify the caller generically as Automotive Services; some voice-mail messages do not capture name of calling entity. Same calling numbers are regularly reported to FTC at donotcall.gov (over 100). We have previously been told caller has consent. Because this campaign routinely appears at the top of our daily tally of highest-volume robocallers, we periodically trace back examples to verify the source. Originator is asked to provide consent details for this call and to address failure to identify calling entity.

 Comment: We appreciate your cooperation with the ITG. After analysis and review, the ITG team continues to have a reasonable basis to suspect that the call subject to the traceback is fraudulent, abusive, and/or unlawful, specifically with regard to applicable telemarketing laws. In this case, we have information indicating that the called party did not consent to the call, is on the Federal Do Not Call List, and does not match the information you provided. Further, the call pertains to Camp Lejeune but the consent website you provided is about rewards. The only indication that robocalls may pertain to other calls is buried in a "marketing partners" pop up that lists over 600 different entities to which the consumer purportedly provided consent. Regulators have indicated that such claimed consent is not valid under applicable telemarketing laws. For these reasons, we will not mark this traceback as strike exempt. Please note, however, that your comment and all other related communications will be included as part of the traceback record, and will be shared with government agencies should they make a demand for information that includes information about this traceback.
